A most shocking occurrence took place on the 17th ultimo, below Louis ville, on the Ohio river. Two citizens of Bourbon county, by the names of Stone, and Mr. David Cobb, of Lex ington, Kentucky, were descending the river, with about eighty negroes. few of them rose and killed their mas ters, and a Mr. Davis, a hired hand, and also a Mr. Gray, a passenger, re furning home to the State of Missis sippe. In all, five persons were mur dered. Fifty six of the negroes re mained with the boat on the Indiana shore, and those concerned in the mur der, to the number of 18 or 20, fled into the constry. A part of them had been taken.

DESHA SET FREE!

We learn by a letter published in the Frankfort Argus, of the 23d ult. dated Cynthia, Sept 23d, that Isaac B. Desha, charged with the murder of Francis Baker, has been admitted to bail, himself in the sum of $1000, with two securities with the like sum each.

The petition that was filed in his behalf made two prayers, first that he should be discharged, because of his not having had a speedy trial; and secondly that he might be admitted to bail, upon the ground that if this fatter prover should be granted he could nes escape, because of his debilirated condition.

. On the first prayer the Judge took time to make up an opinion; but acceded to the latter on the terms ejentioned above. The Judge who has made this strange decision, is named Brown, and received his appointment from Gov. Desha, the father of Isaac B. Da. she, the supposed murdater .- If precedents such as the present one, are to be received in our courts of law, there will be an end to every thing like instice being obtained against wealthy culprits, or those who may have influential-political friends. We think the decision of Judge Brown, a subject worthy the serious consideration of the Kentucky Legislature at its next

As a proof that Desha was not so debilitated as his petition represented him, he was no sooner at liverty than he left Cypthia for the residence of his facher, distant 30-or 40 miles-where. we presume, he will remain to gather a little more strength, in order to hid adieu to Gold Kentiick."
